24 March 2020

As the COVID-19 pandemic unfolds, our priority is to keep our employees, their families, our clients and the public safe and healthy.

The North Bay Jack Garland Airport is open and will continue to operate while providing essential air transportation services. We ask that you respect the operating procedures that we have implemented for your safety. In consultation with on-site agencies, community partners and our airport tenants, we have heightened protocols that include restricting access, encouraging social distancing and limiting non-essential activities.

We have increased our cleaning and disinfecting frequency of common areas and touch surfaces. We are following the precautions and procedures received through briefings and news alerts from the Public Health Agency of Canada \(PHAC\) and local public health authorities to ensure best practices are followed.

We will revise our operations and activity as the situation dictates. Please visit our website, YYB.ca for passenger terminal hours of operation.

As of 20 March, we have been advised that:

Air Canada has cancelled all North Bay flights between March 23 and April 30.

Bearskin will operate a single daily schedule flight in addition to charter operations.

Sunwing has halted commercial charter southern flight operations.

For up to date airline information, including flight schedules and baggage information, please contact your airline. Please check with the airline to manage any travel arrangements currently booked for this time.
